FROM STUDENT TO TRAINER

FROM INTERNATIONAL STUDENT TO INSPIRING TRAINER

Wendy's journey with SGSCC began in 2014, when she arrived as an international student, far from home and without family support. Enrolling in a Certificate III in Aged Care, she stepped into an unfamiliar environment – but quickly found a welcoming, close-knit community that made her feel she belonged.

Within this supportive setting, Wendy developed essential skills for success. Alongside her technical training, she built confidence, communication skills, and the ability to adapt. Learning alongside classmates from diverse cultures strengthened her collaboration skills, cultural awareness, and openness to new perspectives.

Wendy also grew into a natural leader, often supporting her peers and building strong relationships. This experience helped develop her empathy, confidence, and ability to guide others – laying the foundation for her future career. Inspired by her trainers, who encouraged her to believe in herself and aim higher, Wendy set a goal: to one day return as a trainer and give back to the same community.

In 2024, ten years later, she achieved that goal. Returning to SGSCC as a trainer and reconnecting with her former teacher – who expressed pride in her journey – became one of her proudest moments.

Today, Wendy shares the same skills for success she once developed. She builds strong connections with her students, encourages confidence, and uses her own story to inspire them. She reminds them that being an international student is just the beginning – and that with hard work and determination, they too can create their own path.

Wendy's journey is one of growth, belonging, and transformation – showing how developing the right skills can shape not only a career, but the ability to inspire others.
